

If the Northern and Eastern States tolerate the practice of carrying off our slaves, the Union must of course be very soon dissolved...

The steamer, Wilmington, lately burst her boiler on the Mississippi, killing 6 or 7 of the hands.

A Bank called the "Ruckersville Banking Company" has gone into operation under the free banking law of Georgia.

Now that the term of ten years during which what was called the compromise act in regard to the "Tariff" was to continue, is drawing to a close, the question of reviving the old miscalled "American System" begins to be seriously agitated again at the north.

The following remarks were written for last week's paper, but excluded for want of room.

Mr. Foster, U. S. Senator from Tennessee, has addressed a letter to the Legislature of that state, resigning his office, on account of instructions from the Legislature to vote for the "Independent Treasury" bill, and give a general support to the measures of the present federal administration; and it was expected Judge White would also resign for the same reason.

I then fixed up an old building which had been used for a store-house, by putting up bidders or shelves, the boards being about 18 inches apart one above another. The house was 18 feet wide by 25 feet in length, and two stories high.

The second week in June I had a small crop of silk-worms hatch, of the six weeks' kind, which consumed from my rees 1500 lbs. of leaves; and the first and third weeks in August I had a large number of the mammoth white hatch and had flattering success with them.

The silk worms required attendance about seven weeks; the first three weeks I employed two persons, one to pick leaves and the other to feed the worms; the fourth and fifth weeks I employed four persons, two to pick the leaves and two to feed the worms; the sixth week two persons were sufficient, and the seventh week it required only one person.

I raised fifty bushels of excellent cocoon, and what I reeled produced one pound of silk to the bushel, which is pronounced by good judges to be better than the imported, and equally as good silk as any made from any other species of mulberry tree in our country.

GEN. McDUFFIE'S CROP.

We are informed, (says the Edgefield Advertiser) by a gentleman in whom perfect confidence can be placed, that the Cotton crop of General McDuffie, this year, will average 6 bales to the hand. His Corn crop is also abundant. Much has been said, and very justly, of the fertility of the lands in the South West. But we ask, can many planters in that region, equal Gen. McDuffie? His plantation is in Abbeville District.—South Carolinian.

Horizontal proof by experiment that our agriculture in South Carolina is susceptible of improvement. Eight bales to the hand is double the average product on what are considered well managed plantations. And why cannot others do as Gen. McDuffie?—They do not think exclusively, nor rest as much, on seasons well. Gen. McDuffie's profits are much more than double those of a man who can only four bales to the hand. The expenses of the latter are equal to Gen. McDuffie's. The proceeds of the second crop are to be seen in much clear profit over and above the proceeds of the first four. This fact ought to stimulate persons engaged in Agriculture to take and read agricultural papers, and to buy and read agricultural books. No money laid out in any other way would yield so large a profit.

We place the following article under the editorial head, where it will be seen and we trust read. The facts are worth attention.—And let it be remembered that in the Southern States the quantity of leaves yielded by the multicaulis is at least double what it yields in Connecticut. Let it also be remembered that here, at least five crops of silk may be raised in a season.

SILK GROWING IN 1839. Experiment of Mr. Aaron Clapp of Hartford, Conn.

The great importance of the silk culture to our country, and the eagerness of the public to obtain information respecting it, renders it the duty of every one engaged in producing a silk crop, to impart all the information he is capable of giving, that the public may have correct data on which to base their confidence, to engage in, and to go forward in this great national enterprise. And when we take into consideration that twenty-three millions of dollars are annually paid out from this to foreign countries for the article of silk goods of every description; and while we know that we might find a foreign market for double the amount of silk in the raw state, if we could produce it, we should naturally suppose that every citizen, true to his country, and also who has a desire to lay up some property for himself, (which is the character of Americans) would not only impart, but seek all the information necessary to forward and influence others to engage in this enterprise.

With these views, and in compliance with the earnest solicitation of my fellow citizens, I give publicly the result of my experience during the past summer. I planted, the second week in May, a lot of morus multicaulis mulberry trees on one acre and a quarter of good land, being rich loamy soil, by laying down the roots and trees without being cut, burying them about two inches deep. This I consider the best mode for planting multicaulis trees. The rows were three feet apart. I did not put any manure on the land being rather wet and also it being a wet season, only about half as many trees as I had expected were produced; those trees that did come up grew and did very well.

I then fixed up an old building which had been used for a store-house, by putting up bidders or shelves, the boards being about 18 inches apart one above another. The house was 18 feet wide by 25 feet in length, and two stories high.

The second week in June I had a small crop of silk-worms hatch, of the six weeks' kind, which consumed from my rees 1500 lbs. of leaves; and the first and third weeks in August I had a large number of the mammoth white hatch and had flattering success with them.

The silk worms required attendance about seven weeks; the first three weeks I employed two persons, one to pick leaves and the other to feed the worms; the fourth and fifth weeks I employed four persons, two to pick the leaves and two to feed the worms; the sixth week two persons were sufficient, and the seventh week it required only one person.

I raised fifty bushels of excellent cocoon, and what I reeled produced one pound of silk to the bushel, which is pronounced by good judges to be better than the imported, and equally as good silk as any made from any other species of mulberry tree in our country.

But it is said the will of the people ought always to govern in a popular government.—The rule is correct, but not the application of it. The will of the people, deliberately and solemnly expressed in their constitution, which they have covenanted with each other shall be the supreme law of the land, is that the term of senatorial service shall be six years, and that independent of any fluctuations of opinion, during that term in the state which the senator represents. The people themselves, assembled in separate state conventions, which are the only bodies that directly represent their sovereignty, have solemnly declared that this is to be considered their will, in preference to the declaration of any cabal, or party which by management or otherwise may obtain the ascendancy, perhaps a very brief ascendancy, in any state.

Since the above was written we see that Judge White has gone on to Washington and taken his seat in the senate. We hope the event will prove that he is more of a patriot than demagogue.

Capt. James Marsh, of Hartford, raised this season one and a half bushel of cocoons from two square rods of ground, equal to 10 1/2 bushels to the acre, and at $5 the bushel would amount to $537 50.

S. B. Goodwin, of Wethersfield, gathered this season 575 pounds of multicaulis leaves from one-fourth of an acre of ground, equal to 14,300 pounds of leaves to an acre; and allowing that eighty pounds of leaves will make one pound of silk, it would produce 178 pounds and 12 ounces, and at $6 a pound would amount to $1068.

Dr. Holt, of Gloucestershire, obtained 70 pounds of multicaulis leaves at one time, picking from the rod of ground, equal to 11-200 pounds to the acre.

Mr. Church of Behlem, from five years' experience in making silk from different species of mulberry, is fully satisfied that the multicaulis will make equally as good, if not superior, to any other kind. Mr. C. further states he has repeatedly obtained one pound of reeled silk from 3 1/2 lbs. of cocoons, although it cannot generally be expected.

Now, with a convenient cocoonery and additional help of two individuals for two weeks, I could raise a crop of one million of silk worms with the same ease and in the same length of time specified above. The building which I occupied was very convenient, and also we were very careful not to injure the trees when picking the leaves. The leaves were all picked one at a time, and some of the leaves were 1 1/2 inches in length. Now when there is a sufficient supply of multicaulis trees in the country, so that there would be no sale for them, we should gather the foliage by stripping off the branches and the leaves together, and in this way might gather the foliage four or five times as fast.

Several individuals in this vicinity have made silk this season from the morus multicaulis, with good success, and the specimens of silk that have recently been exhibited at the American Institute give undoubted evidence that this species of mulberry tree makes equally as good silk as any other kind. The morus multicaulis possess very decided advantages over all other kinds of mulberry.

Our Rail Road.—It will be seen by the following statement, derived from the report of MITCHELL KING, Esq. President pro tem. of the R. R. Road Company, that an expense of upwards of a million of dollars has already been incurred in the construction of the Columbia Branch; and surely no one will entertain the idea of abandoning that branch, at the sacrifice of the whole expenditure already made and incurred, when less than $600,000 (the whole estimates cost being $1,600,000) is necessary for its completion.

The order for iron rails from England, by the direction of Gen. HAMILTON, before the last meeting at Asheville, to our agents in England, was reduced from 2000 to 1600 tons—the quantity required to lay the road from Branchville to Orangeburgh. A part of this iron has, within a few days, arrived in Charleston, and from the last advices, the rest of it must be now on its way. The chairs and spikes for the rails, which are estimated for this portion of the road to cost about 213,500, are yet to be provided. The work done amounts to $612,419 42 cents, and by an approximate calculation, what remains to be done, and is in progress under our contracts, will amount to $227,551 05 cents, making together $840,012 23 cents, being about $20,000 less than the estimate of the Chief Engineer; and this amount includes grubbing, clearing and transportation. The 1600 tons of iron rails for the first 18 miles of the road from Branchville, including freight, insurance and other charges, will cost about $120,000, so that the Company have already incurred an expense of up wards of $1,000,000, besides some incidental charges, not in this computation, which will remain comparatively unproductive, until the whole track to Columbia be completed.

We gather from the report the following items: No new contracts have been made. Several existing ones have been completed and negotiations opened for their settlement on terms accommodating to the Company a proportion of cash on these contracts; would probably secure an extension of credit for the large balance that would remain. Ibid.

PRESIDENT OF RAIL ROAD COMPANY. Mr. VARDY McBEE was elected, on Saturday last President of the Louisville, Cincinnati and Charleston Rail Road Company, in place of Gen. HAYNE, deceased. Carolinian.

It is said that George M. Dallas, of Pennsylvania, late Minister to Russia, is to succeed Mr. Grundy in the Office of Attorney General. It is also said that Mr. C. C. Cambreleng, will soon be nominated as Minister to Russia.

We learn that an extensive gold mine has been discovered in Randolph county, Alabama State. In a single day gold to the amount of $4000 had been obtained. One lump was found worth over $320. It is supposed to be the richest in North America. At the present crisis, when the precious metals are so scarce, such discoveries are made very opportunely. N. O. Bulletin.
